Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

If the final result of the rubber salvage campaign amounts to as much as 300,000 pounds for Nevada County, that will be 15 pounds of rubber contributed to the nation's need by each man, woman and child in the county, and if same ratio obtains throughout the country the total pile of used rubber uncovered by 132 million people, will be 1,980,000,000 pounds or 880,000 tons. This should be a great lift to the war industries and, perhaps, to civilian rubber users.

In large cities in which hundreds of thousands of families live in apartments, it is too much to expect that the ratio of 15 pounds to the person will be usual. The apartment dweller has no room to store old tires, etc. Most of the rubber will come from farms and the smaller towns. Many an old tire will come from garbage dumps and swimming holes, from wayside scaverenging and canyon probing. Junk dealers who saved rubber tires are in the money, but many did not.

So many conflicting statements about sugar are heard from the so-called experts that a man on the street with no knowledge of sugar beyond the fact that it helps his morning coffee, can be pardoned for being a trifle confused. The sensible course is not to worry about it, since alleged economists, sugar importers, growers and the government rationing officials are doing a tremendous lot of worrying and arguing. It is a comfortting thought to know that if the government has blundered we at least have benefitted in health.

A good many home town merchants have been helped since tire rationing began. People are really concerned about the tire shortage and the prospect of making theirs "do" until a year after the war is over. They are doing more trading at home than formerly. Some classes of merchandise which are now extinct, in so far as their manufacture is concerned, such as automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and radio receiving sets, no longer absorb installment money. The cash formerly spent for household appliances now goes to clothing, shoes, groceries, and home additions and improvements. Many a man burdened with debt is now paying out. The temptation of shining new cars, household appliances, and other durable goods has been removed. There are few of these things to be had, the down payments are much larger, and credit is given a closer scrutiny.

As for other rationing that looms the American people are not "afeared." We could wish there was less alarmist yelpings from Washington. Not long ago somebody in a position of authority at the nation's capitol issued a loud warning that coffee, tea, and chocolate were soon to be rationed. Maybe they are. What of it? A relatively few will probably stock into the grocery stores and stock up for months in advance. Then when rationing does come in these commodities, if it does, they will have to declare what they have at home, just as in the case of sugar, and will be no better off than their neighbors who refrained from hoarding.

The folks who stay at home, speaking for 99 per cent of them, are willing to do anything that will make our boys in training, overseas, or at the battle front as happy and comfortable as circumstances permit. What sacrifice we can make is so little as compared with what they are asked to do, that any feeling of annoyance we may have, should on second thought, make us blush clear down to ous toes.

We may think that matters are not being managed very well in Washington. Probably they are not. No administration ever has succeeded in adopting a clean-cut business policy, and practicing it, in war times. Our governmental machinery is geared for peace, not war. One thing this war seems to be demonstrating is that business, which has frequently been abused by the present administration, is doing a better and bigger job than in any other war. Also that union labor, pampered and spoiled by the administration, is doing a fine, manly job throughout the country. There are exceptions of course in both categories, but patriotism is the rule. The people are determined to win this war as quickly as possible. Their will has been repeatedly expressed, and its compulsion affects government, industry and labor.

Plans For Independence Celebration In Nevada City Well Underway

A meeting to complete plans for the Nevada City-Grass Valley Fourth of July celebration will be held in the city hall here tomorrow night.

Plans for the celebration were slow getting started but are now well underway and indications point to an entertaining and appropriate observance of the anniversary of the independence of this nation.

The events will start with a program Friday night on a platform which will be erected in front of the Elks Building. At the same time, concession booths will open in the vacant building between the Shamrock Cafe and Dickerman's Drug Store. There will also be dancing in the vacant store in the Elks Building next to the forest service offices.

Carl J. Tobiassen is preparing arrangements for the parade, which will be the special feature on the Fourth. There will be two bands in the parade as well as additional musical corps, including the Nevada City Firemen's drum corps.

The literary program, being arranged by Judge George L. Jones, will be highlighted by an address by James Snell, Nevada County attorney.

A picnic at Pioneer Park, will be a feature of the events planned for Saturday afternoon.

Miss June Hawke has been selected as the Goddess of Liberty of the parade. Thomas Lawrence will be the grand marshall.

Starting last Saturday, contest opened for anglers under 17 years of age. The fisherman catching the largest trout will win $2.50 worth of fishing tackle. The second prize is $1.50 worth of fishing tackle. Fish can be registered and weighed at the Alpha Store, Save More Variety or Plaza Grocery.

Mrs. Paul Kemper, chairman of the finance committee, reports voluntter donations are coming in slowly. There is now approximately $250 for the celebration. Volunteer donations can be left at the bank here.

DRAFT DODGER IS INDICTED

Ora Ray Whitaker, 36 years old, who boasted among his friends in Grass Valley, that "when they took him into the army, they would have to come and get him,' has been gotten. Friday the Federal Grand Jury of Sacramento indicted the Grass Valley man for failure to appear for induction. Twice he has been called for induction from the Nevada County Court House and each time he flouted the call. In his statement before the Federal Grand Jury Whitaker said that he was a conscinetious objector but in filling out his registration papers he forgot to mention it.

MINERS LOSE TO CHICO COLTS

Chico increased its lead in the Sacramento Valley League yesterday with a 6 to 2 victory over the Grass Valley Miners. Larry Gillick hurled the Chico win, allowing only six hits.

The score	R.	H.	E.
Grass Valley	2	6	4
Chico	6	7	1

An actual evacuation, with the necessity of feeding a large number of people, will be simulated. The food will be cooked at various places designated as emergency centers and taken to the Veterans Building for the mass feeding. The meal will cost those participating 25 cents each and will be served between 6:30 and 7:20 tonight.

There will be 45 minutes of action movies shown by two Marines who will come to Grass Valley for the occasion. Eben K. Smart will act as master of ceremonies.

Nevada Cityans Pay Final Respects To A. C. Presley

Scores of Nevada City residents gathered at the Holmes Funeral Home here Saturday afternoon to pay their final respects to one of this city's most widely known residents—A. C. (Gus) Presley, Jr.

The impressive Elks Lodge services were conducted under the direction of Exalted Ruler Carl Hieronimus of the Nevada City Chapter. Burial was in the Pine Grove Cemetery under the direction of the Holmes Funeral Home.

The esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends here and elsewhere was attested by the many beautiful floral offerings which banked the funeral parlors at the services and later on the grave.

Presley was but a comparative newcomer to Nevada City but there was no greater booster for the community. His firm convictions on the desirability of Nevada City as homesite so impressed many persons that they established their permanent residence here upon their retirement.

Presley was an active and willing worker with the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce. He also enjoyed membership in the Nevada County Peace Officers Association. In addition he was a member of the local Elks Lodge.

The deceased came to Nevada City with his family in 1938. His friendliness combined with his capabilities and the helpfulness of his wife, won him many friends and he prospered in the real estate and insurance business here.

Presley worked hard for his success but occasionally he took time off to enjoy himself at some sport, either golfing, hunting or fishing. He was a member of the Nevada County Golf Association.

The untimely death of Presley, who was but 52 years of age, left its mark on the community. A fine citizen, a good friend, has gone.

In addition to his wife, Presley leaves three daughters, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Presley, Sr., of Gridley and brothers and sisters.

The daughters are Patricia Presley of this city, Betty Presley of Los Angeles and Mrs. Hilton Taylor of Grand Junction, Colo.

FIFTH REGISTRATION FOR MILITARY TRAINING TOMORROW

Every male between 18 and 20 years of age, born on or after January 1, 1922, and on or before June 30, 1924, is required to sign up tomorrow for potential military training at the registration points established for that purpose by the selective service headquarters.

In Nevada City, the registration will take place in the courthouse. A. M. Holmes is the chief registrar. The courthouse will be open from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. for the registration.

Between the hours of 7 a. m. and 12 (noon) George Prouse and Richard Worth will register; from 12 (noon) until 5 p. m. E. J. Kilroy and Joseph Stenger will handle the registration and between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. William Sharp, Robert Tamblyn and J. D. Rafferty will conduct the registration.

The state headquarters of selective service announced the procedure for the Fifth R Day will be the same as for the past four R Days. The information required will be the name, address, mailing address if different from his residence, telephone number, age, date of birth, place of birth, occupation, name and address of a person who always will know the registrant's address, employer's name and address and place of employment.

If any man required to register cannot do so tomorrow because of illness or any other reason, every effort must be made to do so as soon thereafter as possible. If a registrant is out of his home city on the R Day he must appear at a board in the city where he may happen to be. His papers later will be transferred to his own local board.

Work On Mining Claims In Defense Areas Deferred

The United States Senate has voted to defer the $100 annual labor assessment on small mining claims within defense areas as long as they remain in areas so designated.

The bill was sent to the White House. Legislation waiving the assessment requirement through 1943 on certain other unpatented mining claims already has been approved by the president.

DEATH CALLS FRED DOUGLAS OF GRASS VALLEY

The several weeks illness of Fred Douglas, 52, Grass Valley businessman, last night ended in death.

Douglas, who with his wife, Arletta, conducted a women's apparel shop in Grass Valley, was widely known both in Nevada City and Grass Valley. He came to Nevada County nine years ago from Sacramento. He was a member of the Elks Lodge and a World War veteran.

Funeral services are being arranged by the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary in Grass Valley.

COMMUNITY FIRE DEPARTMENT

CAMPTONVILLE, June 29.—The men of the community held a public meeting Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock in the auditorium of the local Masonic Hall for the purpose of forming a community fire department.

The organization was completed and will be known as the Camptonville Volunteer Fire Department, with W. C. Williams, as chief, William E. Groves as assistant chief and A. C. Cleveland as secretary-treasurer. A committee was appointed to draw up the constitution and by-laws to be adopted at a meeting in the near future.

The organization of this unit was prompted by action of the local women's club which recently had fire hydrants installed and had sponsored a collection of funds for equipment.

FOUR IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Latest filing figures show there are four in the race for Congressman of the Second District of California.

Republican R. R. Henderson of Lone Pine, Inyo County, southernmost point in the district of 18 counties, filed on both the Republican and Democratic tickets.

Incumbent Harry Englebright of Nevada City, a Republican also filed on the Democratic ticket and the Townsend ticket.

Frank G. Finnegan of Nevada City, a Democrat, cross filed on the Republican ticket.

The other candidate is Mrs. Gertrude Clark of Amador County, who filed on the Democratic ticket only.

ANGLERS ASKED NOT TO COMPLAIN WHEN WATER IS MUDDY

Housewives who find their domestic water supply running cloudy and fishermen who find their favorite streams roiled and muddy this summer were asked not to complain—it's a war condition.

Bruce McDonnel, chief of the state bureau of minerals production, asked that public citizens and public agencies recognize the need for production of strategic minerals and refrain from action hampering placer mining during the summer.

Production of chrome and manganese by placer mining is essential to the war effort, McDonnel said, and should not be shut down during the summer because streams might become roiled and polluted.

He asked that the California Debris Commission grant placer miners the necessary summer permits and that civilians refrain from seeking injunctions and initiating lawsuits.

"We cannot afford to even consider curtailment of any mining operations producing minerals needed for the war industrial plants," McDonnel said. "We are dependent upon the placer deposits and we cannot afford to shut these operations down because of debris being released into streams or rivers."

PAST PRESIDENTS GROUP OF NDGW ELECT OFFICERS

The Past Presidents Association of the Native Daughters of the Golden West met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Miles Coughlin here and elected new officers. A potluck supper was served in the garden.

The officers elected for the coming year were:

Avis Evans, past president; Josephine Muscardini, president; Jennie Sherer, first vice president; Minerva Wright, second vice president; Mary Frank, third vice president; Annie Tucker, marshal; Louise Wales, pianist; Beatrice George, recording secretary; Adeline O'Connor, fininancial secretary; Virginia O'Neill, treasurer; Sue Harris, inside sentinel and Luck Kneebone, outside sentinel.

Fishing Getting Good In Downieville Area

Ranger Delaney of the Tahoe National Forest, stationed at Downieville, reports that due to the late breakup of the ice in the lakes area fishermen and campers are just beginning to visit there in goodly numbers. Fair catches have been reported and with the advance of the season good fishing will be at hand. Most reports have come from the Sardine and Packer Lakes, but with roads open, Gold Lake should soon come into the spotlight.

According to Ranger Delaney, the local fishermen are also making nice catches in the North Fork of the Yuba River.

It has been noted that most all camp fire permittees have shown a lively interest in forest fire prevention.

Mrs. Violet Rodgers of Burlingame is visiting her sister, Mrs. Harley M. Leete, of this city.

Caught in the Riffles

Herbert Hallett, relief police officer, is having his star resilvered. By accident the other day Mrs. Hallett threw the star in the stove among a quantity of trash and no amount of polishing could restore the shining surface . . . Bob Polglase, popular employee of the Bank of America here and leading knight of the local Elks Lodge, has been ordered transferred to San Francisco. Bob, next in line for exalted ruler, will forfeit the years of work he accomplished with the local lodge, all necessary to carry him to top position . . . Al Ungaro, home on a 14 day furlough after being accepted for military service, is conditioning for the days to come by walking sevven miles every day . . . Nevada City girls fall for the boys in Grass Valley, engagement rings and statistics show. A week ago Barbara Phariss of Nevada City became bride of Clyde Mitchell, Coffer, a Grass Valley boy. Yesterday Rose Belisle of this city married a Grass Valley youth, Frank Davidson and tomorrow Mary Louise Mugford is to wed Richard Rodda of Grass Valley. Ralph Deeble, deputy county clerk, said the combination makes happy marriages. . . .

Parents of children who vacation at Lake Vera hardly know them when they return home. They are as brown as a berry and some gain as much as 10 pounds. A group left yesterday and about 200 more arrived. Dr. George Foster will handle the practice of Dr. W. W. Reed, who is now with the U. S. Army Medical Corps as captain. Dr. Reed's office will be kept open here a month by his office nurse. Dr. Foster's offices are in Grass Valley. Along toward midnight Saturday dancing was interrupted at LeBarr Meadows for the issuance of a plea for a mother to take care of her baby, who was crying in a car outside!

Don't expect to contact any of the local postal employees by telephone during office hours on any business other than p. o. Postmaster Betty Martin West politely informs the telephone caller that she would prefer the postal emploees be reached after he completes his daily stint. Fourth of July celebration business is no exception.

Miles Coughlin and Paul Kemper thought the Nevada City Fourth of July celebration had been sabotaged Saturday. Coughlin went to Grass Valle Friday night and obtained 100 posters advertising the Fourth fete here. He left them at the door of the P. G. & E. office, thinking Kemper would get them early in the morning and immediately start distributing them to where they would do the most good. Noon came and no one knew where the posters were. It developed later that Ernest Young who cleans the local P. G. & E. office had taken them home for safe keeping.

ROSE BELISLE BECOMES BRIDE OF FRANK DAVIDSON

Rose Belisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Belisle of Nevada City, yesterday became the bride of Frank Howard Davidson of San Francisco at a ceremony performed in Grass Valley at the Methodist Church.

The bride was attended by her sister, Ruth Belisle of Nevada City. Glenn Davidson, brother of the bridegroom, acted as the best man. Rev. Mark Pike performer the wedding.

The couple will make their home in San Francisco, where Davidson is employed in defense work.

The former Miss Belisle graduated with high honors from the Nevada City High School earlier this month. She was active in student affairs and was editor of the annual school publication.

Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davidson of Grass Valley, attended school in that community.

At Mother's Home—

Mrs. Grace Solaro and infant daughter were taken from the Miners Hospital Saturday to the home of Mrs. Solaro's mother in Gold Flat, where they will remain for several weeks.

Suppose, Just Suppose, That Lidice Were In U.S.A.

Imagine reading the following government announcement in your Nugget:

"All men of Truckee have been shot. The women have been deported to a concentration camp and the children sent to appropriate centers of education. All buildings of the village were leveled to the ground and the name of the village was immediately abolished."

Those are the words of an official Nazi statement issued a few days ago except that the town was named Lidice —a quiet little community of Czecho-Slovakia near Prague.

In Lidice (pronounced Leed-eet-say) men and women lived where their ancestors had lived for more than 600 years. A Lidice son brought his bride to his parents' home; his children were born in the same room where his grandfather first saw light. Above the roofs of the town rose the spire of St. Margaret's Church, a symbol of community faith since the church's building in 1736.

In Lidice a farmer with earth sticking to his boots greeted the coal-dusty miner who as a boy sat beside him in school. On a warm day the tapping of the shoe repairman sounded through an open door like a faint echo of the blacksmith's hammering. A storekeeper going to the tailor shop paused on Wilson Street—named for the American president—to gossip with a man carving wood before his front door. Children laughed and played or were drawn to kitchens by the sweet scents of the cakes their mothers baked.

Life was not so easy after the German conquerors came. The men had to do what the rulers ordered. Limits were set on worship in the church and on schooling for the children. The women didn't have such good things or so much to fix for meals. But the people lived on, they worked, they loved, they dreamed—oppression had been upon them in the past but "Wilson" Street seemed a reminder that to a people of unconquered spirit, freedom at last returns.

Then two men fatally wounded Reinhard Heydrich who, as Nazi "protector" of Czecho-Slovakia, earned the title of "Hangman." That happened on a highway which doesn't even go through Lidice. The Lidice people told the Nazi secret police that they didn't know anything about the two men.

But the Gestapo agents learned that Lidice folk still dreamed of freedom. They claimed they found a radio, forbidden by German conquerors, arms and munitions. Several of the Lidice young men had escaped to join United Nations forces fighting the Germans. And the Nazis follow their policy of bloody vengeance—a policy which has meant the murder, in retaliation for the death of Heydrich, or more than 700 innocent men and women.

So when you read or hear the name of Lidice imagine what it would mean if Truckee were crushed to the earth, its name scratched from all records, the bodies of all its men dumped into a common grave, their widows imprisoned, and the doubly-orphaned children in the hands of vengeful and merciless foreigners.

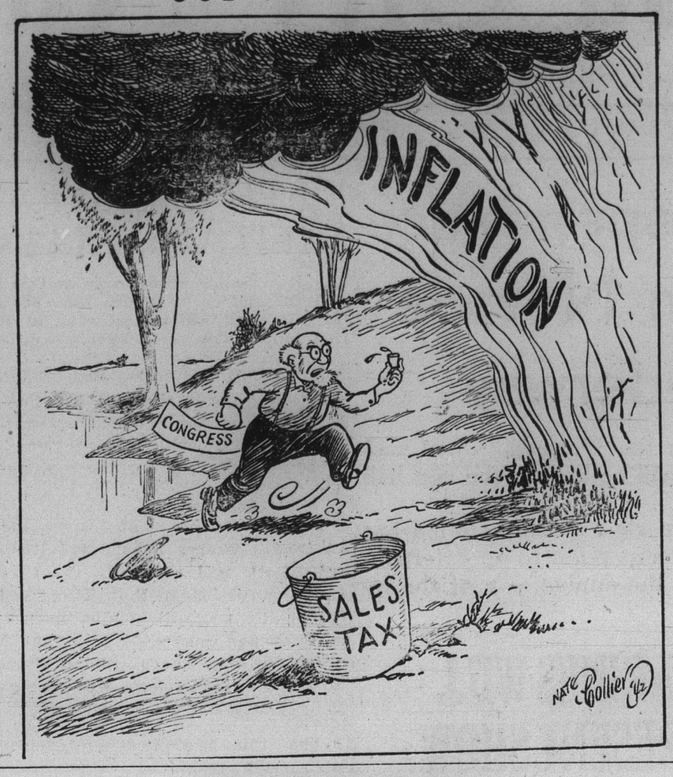
JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if the rubber drive
Has reached yourhome and if, today,
You've taken all the bits of scrap
From dusty corners where they lay
And as each sample came to view,
Did you say, "Uncle Sam needs you"

I wonder if the war is teaching us many lessons well worth remembering, when the tide of battle ebbs and normal living is resumed. Here in America we are becoming acquainted with the word and meaning of thrift. No longer do we throw seemingly useless things away; we look at them with appraising eyes and wonder if in some way they may contribute if even in an inconsiderable degree to the war effort.

Our homes are being stream lined. The old trunk has been robbed of its strange accumulations and that is a very good thing. It was silly to burden ourselves with these stored up things to which we added from year to year. Now, we know that those things which we can no longer use may become useful, so we reclaim them from their idle hire outs, and send them forth to serve in some capacity thus relieving ourselves of their care, decreasing fire hazards and removing breeding places for moths. Bring out the discarded garments, save the collapsable tubes, turn in the old rubber. Uncle Sam has need of these materials—and that need is urgent.

USE THE BUCKET!



AN EYE FOR AN EYE

(By Carl Ross)

Civilization stands aghast at the increasingly ferocious atrocities and reprisals carried out by the Nazis and its Gestapo throughout the occupied countries in its cruel imposition of the "New Order."

The world has watched with chill horror the ruthless slaying of the Poles; the mass execution of the Czecs in reprisal for the assassination of "Hangman" Heidrich.

But the crowning infamy of the leaders of Nazi Germany in pronouncing death to all members of the Jewish race in Europe if the "Hangman's" executioners are not exposed foreshadows a wholesale murder era such as would pale into insignificance the already tragic list of these whose lives have been ruthlessly snuffed out for no greater offense than that they are non-Aryan—or do not accept abject slavery as their portion under the heel of the self-styled "super race."

And the prayer of those who still cling to the faint but fiercely burning spark of freedom-loving must be that some way be shown them to bring home to their conquerors the enormity of the score which must be settled when the day of reckoning shall dawn—as dawn it most certainly shall.

How can the monster Nazi be made to realize the enormity of his debt to civilization? No civilized code of ethics will be given the slightest cognizance by him in his mad efforts at world mastery. So it is necessary to impress upon his consciousness in letters of searing flame, the judgment that awaits him!

Let him know, by every radio beam that can be directed toward the seat of his iniquity, that every victim of his insane pogoms is being dutifully recorded—each name is being recorded; added to the long list of his unjustified victims.

And let him know that when his armies shall have been submerged in utter defeat, and he and his cohorts shall come crawling and whining for mercy—a mercy he has failed to acknowledge for those who oppose him—let him and his cohorts know, and know NOW that this verdict awaits:

"IF, AND EACH AND EVERY ONE OF HIS "ARYAN" GESTAPO BRETHREN SHALL BE LISTED, AND FOR EACH OF HIS VICTIMS SHALL ONE OF HIS UNHOLY LEGION—BEGINNING WITH THE LEADER—BE STOOD AGAINST THE STONE WALL AND SUMMARILY SHOT!

Let the radio tell and re-tell this prophecy of the fate that awaits the legions of Hitler! Let the wings of the Allied bombers carry the printed message by the million to be dropped with every bomb load!

Let the Hun know that when the going gets too tough for him he cannot, this time, cry "Kamarad" and gain surcease and the probation in which to rebuild his dream of Aryan supremacy.

Let every German know that Germany must pay—An Eye For An Eye And a Tooth For a Tooth!

SUDDEN DEATH FOR TWO

CAMPTONVILLE, June 29.—Two sudden deaths took place in this vicinity during the past few days, Frank Richmond, aged 36, who arrived Saturday with his family, on a week end visit at the Shimer Ranch died suddenly that night from a heart attack. Dr. Frederick March was summoned from Grass Valley, but the man was dead before he arrived. The body was taken charge of by the Lipp and Sullivan and shipped to San Francisco of which place deceased was a resident.

Mrs. Lucille Bowden, aged 70, who had been in this section only five days passed away Tuesday night at the Beresford Ranch in the Moonshine section where she came to visit her daughter Mrs. Madeline Lee. Dr. C. C. Sutton of Downieville was summoned, but the aged woman had suffered a hemorrhage and was beyound medical assistance. The body was taken in charge by the Holmes Funeral Home of Nevada City. She was a former resident of El Cerito.

I wonder what Schicklegruber thought of Flog Day. Unprintable thoughts of course, and now he will remind us that wars are not won by parades and patriotic speeches. We are well aware of that fact, but the inspirational value of Flag Day will thrill the minds and hearts of men for many a day to come.

The sounds of marching feet, blaring bands, cheering voices and lilting songs demonstrated fine unity of purpose and the firm determination to fight on until the right to sing one's own songs and wave one's own banner has been assured to all peoples the world over, irrespective of border, birth and creed.

This is indeed a great and splendid dream, universal liberty, but it is the dream that smiles through the clouds of battle and leads the way.

You can't fight such a dream Schiklegruber, you may conquer and enslave the weak and defenseless for a time, but you cannot kill the dream of liberty. It still leads where your Satanic ruthlessness has done its worst, for that is the way with dreams. Sometime it will blind you with its divine radiance and when that day comes, the victims of your wrath will be avenged.

We have a new flag in our little town of pines and cedars and golden dreams. A flag sent from Washington, D. C. To be flown above the post office and our post master is erecting a pole for the purpose. When that bonnie flag flutters out upon the clear air of this coign of the Sierra, we shall not sing "Oh say can you see, and Oh say does the Star Spangled Banner yet wave." Clear and high above the voices of the forests we shall sing the last stanza of our national anthem. Beginning with, "And thus be it ever," and ending with those two glorious lines, "And the Star Spangled Banner forever shall wave, o'er the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave."—A. Merriam Conner.

BE TENDER WITH TIRES

News in Rhyme Over KJBS Daily at 12:30 P. M.

Written by Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Real rubber's rare and very dear,
As everyone well knows.
But we've a story full of cheer:
Here's how our story goes.

Some senators who'd gathered round,
Saw K. D. Smith arrive.
He joined them with a cheery bound,
Full of elastic drive.

"Gents," said he, "it now appears,
Our need for rubber's growing.
The shortage justifies our fears."
The solons nodded, knowing.

"But Goodrich, whom I represent,
Has something good, yet new.
Our thing seems almost heaven-sent—
Ill demonstrate to you."

Each solon wore a skeptic look,
But Smith had seized a beaker;
In almost less time than it took.
The senators grew meeker.

Smith poured acetic acid in,
With "Ameripol latex," juice.
He squeezed the surplus liquid thin,
Then jerked a handful loose.

Then he slapped it on the floor.
Ah—here's the crucial test:
The new-made ball bounced up for more;
Of substitutes—the best!

The solons timed the whole affair—
Ten seconds by the clock.
Each senator's prepared to swear,
The ball was full of sock.

Near two hundred thousand tons per year,
At twenty cents per pound,
Will Goodrich 'sell—price isn't dear.
For a product full of bound.

How long before the Goodrich fires,
Can bake this great amount?
Well—you had better save your tires—
And make your rubber count!

TAKE A POWDER

If you should hear a soldier say he's going to "take a powder," he probably has no intention of going A. W. O. L. He merely means he thinks he will eat, for one of the newest things in food today is food in powdered form.

The dehydrated food industry is expanding rapidly as the result of a recent Army decision tobuy 25,000,000 pounds of such food—more than three times the total production of 1939.

Dehydrated vegetables will constitute part of the Army's vast shipment of supplies to United States troops in Australia and elsewhere overseas. The vegetables to be handled in dehydrated form all contain large percentages of water when fresh; they are potatoes, onions, carrots, cabbages, beets and rutabaga.

The term "dehydrated" implies mechanical circulation of artificial heat, and the flavor, the nutritive value and even the vitamins are retained intact in the finished product. Not all foods come out of the process in powdered form, however. The tomato looks something like a rose petal; peas become green paste; and lemons are made into yellow crystals that can be used for lemonade.

Dehydrated meats are entirely new and were but a research possibility a few months ago. Thus far, beef, mutton and goatsmeat are successful products. Pork will probably not prove suscepitible to dehydration treatment, it is said, because of its high fat content.

This new industry is of special importance today because tin formerly used for canning is being diverted to war purposes.

Post Office Establishes New V-Mail Service

In cooperation with the United States War and Navy Departments, the Post Office Department has established a new service known as the V-Mail Service to conserve transportation space and to expedite the handling of messages to and from the personnel of our armed forces stationed outside the continental United States.

Persons in the United States desiring to use this service may obtain the special V-mail letter- sheet envelopes at the nearest post office, write their message thereon and after addressing, folding and sealing the letter-sheets in the prescribed manner and affixing postage, deposit the messages in any post office street letter box or authorized depository. The letters will be dispatched by domestic air and surface transportation, according to the postage paid, to designated ports of embarkation.

The V-Mail letter will be forwarded in its original form or it may be micro-filmed and a photographic reproduction transmitted to the addressee when delivery can be expedited by so doing. The Post Office Department will separate the V-Mail by Army and Navy post office units and deliver it to the military authorities who will control and operate the V-Mail stations. Thereafter the War and Navy Departments will decide according to the volume of mail, the distance to destination, and the location of other V-Mail facilities which will be micro-filmed and which will be forwarded in their original form.

V-Mail service is not intended for transmittal of messages within the continental United States. V-Mail letters mailed in this country and addressed for delivery at post offices within the United States, to Army post offices or to Navy installations in care of Postmaster's at office other than New York and San Francisco, will be dispatched to their destination in their original form and with the regular mails.

Members of the armed forces stationed abroad will be furnished with out charge V-Mail leter sheets through the War and Navy Departments and will deposit their V-Mail letters in designated mail depositories in Army and Navy post offices. If delivery can be advanced, such letters will be micro-filmed and the film transmitted to the V-Mail stations in the United States by the most expeditious means of transportation available; otherwise such letters will be transmitted to destinations in their original form. Upon arrival in the the United States, the micro-filmed messages will be reopened, enclosed in specially designed penalty envolopes and dispatched to destinations.

The postage on V-Mail letters sent by other than members of the armed forces is 3 cents for ordinary mail and 6 cents for air mail. Members of the armed forces are entitled to mail without payment of postage. At the present the V-Mail letter-sheets will be furnished, without charge, by the post office department but it is anticipated that in the near future V-Mail letter-sheets will be on sale at stationery stores.

Grazing Conditions On Tahoe Not Promising Forester Smith Reports

Range Examiner Leland Smith of the Tahoe National Forest has just returned to Nevada City from a ten day inspection of grazing areas with in the forest. According to Smith the grazing conditions in general are not very promising due to he presence of snow on the higher ranges which has made the season two to three weeks behind schedule. Stock will not be able to use these ranges until the middle of July which will create hardships for those cattlemen who do not have holding ranges. On the east side of the Sierra Nevadas, particularly in the Sierra Valley, a continued northeast wind has dried the soil and grass when the weather was cold, which has resulted in a stunted grass for that area. Smith is of the opinion that if the forest does not have a rain this month, feed will be scarce over all the sage brush and open range country. One object of Smith's trip was to contact all cattlemen and sheep men and organize them into volunteer groups so that their services and equipment may be made available during time of emergency in the national forests. Smith who since the emergency has been taking an active part in the Tahoe National Forest's fire organization, was high in his praise of the part stockmen have taken in the suppression of fires.

COST OF LIVING LISTS MUST BE FILED BY WEDNESDAY

All local merchants are warned to have their price list of cost of living commodities filed with the War Price and Rationing Board here by July 1st. The lists can be filed at the city hall here. The following message was received here concerning the filing:

"Please use all available channels of public information to inform all retailers in your area that price lists of cost of living commodities as defined in Bulletin No. 2 must be filed with the War Price and Rationing Board by July 1st."

RETURN FROM EXTENDED TRIP

High Altitude Fire Fighting Truck Ready For Use

District Ranger John R. Hodgson of the Big Bend district announces the receipt of a new type pumper fire truck on his district. This truck, in accordance with the Tahoe National forest's new fire plan, will be stationed at Blue Canyon guard station on Highway 40 below Emigrant Gap. According to Hodgson, the truck was constructed in the forest service equipment shops at Stockton specially for high altitude fire fighting. Hodgson further stated that the truck would be available for fighting structural fires along Highway 40 from Baxters to Big Bend, though its primary purpose will be forest fire suppression work.

GUARDSMEN MEET

CAMPTONVILLE, June 29.—The first meeting of the local unit of the California State Militia was held Tuesday evening at the auditorium of the local Masonic Hall with Merle Collins, county agent, of Marysville presiding.

The organization was perfected with sixteen members to start with, and W. C. Williams was unanimously elected sergeant of the company, with Myron Pauly and Fred H. Butz elected as corporals.

Because of the geographical location of this end of the county, it was voted that this should be a separate unit and function by itself. The membership is expected to increase, and regular meetings and drills will be held.
